Jascha Ehrenreich

Jascha Ehrenreich (he/him) is a platform architect and programmer of virtual experiences. He has been programming homepages, games and community platforms for more than twenty years. Most of his clients were small companies and non-profit NGOs. He also has published around 80 open source packages with more than 2 million installs.
In 2020, together with Litto, Jascha laid the foundation of the Artificial Museum, taking it from idea to international platform, ready to envelope the globe.